

At the Mid-Winter Conference, there was an announcement that the vendor for the Marine Corps League Red Blazer will no longer be selling this blazer.

The new supplier will be JC Penney. The blazer won't be sold in their (few remaining) retail stores, but will be available on their website.

Go to: JCPenney.com and in the search bar on the homepage, type "stafford hopsack blazer"

It is currently on sale for $79.99 + 6.40 tax with Free Shipping. The blazer from JC Penney will come with standard buttons which need to be replaced. The brass buttons set from ships store are around $12. There is a difference in these blazers in that they have four buttons at the cuff of the sleeves. The current blazer only has three, but National has assured us that the uniform committee will amend the uniform regulations so that the four buttons will be acceptable.

The National website already has the large and small buttons available separately.

Large—$1.45

Small—$1.15
